White Says War's End Is In the Far Future

New York, Feb. 26. — Montague White, the American representative of the Boers, left tonight for Buffalo, where he will make an address tomorrow night. Before his departure he said:

"I do not know much about military operations. From the dispatches it appears that Cronje is in a tight place, and there seems little hope of his escape. Still, it is not certain that he is hopelessly surrounded. He is a strong little man. In times of peace he is a rather stupid, inoffensive person, shy, silent, unprepossessing. Until three or four years ago, when he was made superintendent of natives, he was a farmer. He is a natural leader, a born strategist. In the field he is a marvel of courage and strength. His foresight is amazing. His grasp of a situation is simply wonderful and he acts with a celerity out of all keeping with his manner in civil life.

"It seems to me Cronje has offered himself and his men as a sacrifice to hold Lord Roberts' great army in check until a second line of defense is complete. If Cronje and his men are captured it will not end the war. It will be a tremendous blow but not a mortal one. The war will not end until Pretoria falls, and when the British reach the Transvaal capital many thousands of lives will be lost. The Boers believe Pretoria is impregnable, and there is good reason for their confidence.

"As to intervention, the outlook is not pleasing. I see no hope in Europe, unless Russia should take action, and that does not appear likely. I believe Emperor William would like to stop the war, but he does not know exactly how to go about it. The only hope is in the United States. No other power can mediate, and the Administration appears to be lukewarm. Public opinion in the United States seems to count for little, so far as influence upon the Administration is concerned. All these meetings throughout the country, the direct evidence that the sentiment of the people of the United States favors mediation, count for nothing with the Administration. Those placed in power are safe for four years.

"In England such an outburst would overturn a ministry in a single week.
It would force the Government to do its will. When I was in Washington it was made plain to me that the Administration feels secure. It is bound to remain in office for a certain length of time. It does not feel the weight of public opinion until the time for the elections approaches. When I saw Secretary Hay, I told him frankly that I hoped the time would come when public opinion in the United States would be so strong that he would be compelled to stop the war. And the United States could do it. It is the only power that could do it. Should the Government take a decided stand the war would end within a fortnight.
England needs the United States. She cannot get along without this country."

Mexican's Suffer Defeat.

Potom, Sonora, Mexico, Feb. 25.— Another big battle has been fought by Mexican regulars and Yaqui Indians.
The battle raged all day Friday. The loss on the Mexican side was 300 killed and wounded. Among the dead was Geronimo Ascarate of El Paso, Tex.
The Yaqui forces, 4,000 strong, descended from mountain strongholds with the intention of assaulting Guaymas. General Torres was informed in advance of the intention of the hostiles by Geronimo Ascarate, who was in the employ of the Mexican Government at Casa Grandes, Mex., not far from the seat of the Yaqui Government at Babispe. Ascarate was sent to convey the news to Torres and participate in the battle.
